Regalism Reigns at Prom; College Vote Names Queen

Pomp and Circumstance will be the theme of the senior prom to be held next Saturday evening in the college gym from 9 to 12. Jimmy Smith's orchestra from Cedar Rapids will provide the music for the formal dance.

Decorations are planned to carry out a royalty theme to highlight the crowning of the prom queen at 11 o'clock. Queen candidates, selected by the senior class, are Wanda Funk, Chicago; Sue Turnis, Bernard; Elaine Mraz, Cedar Rapids; Josefina Sagel, David, Panama, and Bernice Stark, Cedar Rapids.

A secret all-college vote Monday will determine the queen but her identity will not be revealed until coronation time.

Directs Plans

General chairman of the dance is Maurita Brady, senior class president. Wanda Funk heads the decoration committee. She is assisted by Nita Allman, Betty Barrett, Patricia Condon, Patricia Conway, Carol DeRoo, Peggy Dillon, Jackie Fu, Sue Gillespie, Gerry Hanten, Bev Poire and Jacques Schmitt.

Des Moines Senior Wins Federation Scholarship

Elizabeth Flynn, senior at St. Joseph academy, Des Moines, has been named the winner of the Clarke scholarship offered annually by the National Federation of BVM Alumni. Valued at $1600 the scholarship was awarded on the basis of results in the College Entrance Examination.

Second place in the tests was taken by Judy Howeter, also from St. Joseph academy. She is the sister of Mary Jo Howeter Gannon '55. Barbara Bilek, senior at Our Lady of Peace high school in St. Paul, Minn., placed third. Both girls will receive tuition scholarships.

Patricia Beaty is in charge of erecting the queen's throne and planning the crowning ceremony. On her committee are Carol Splear, Maureen A. Sullivan, Molly Rater, Mary Jane Thornton and Sue Turnis.

Designs Bids

Bids were designed to harmonize with the general theme. Chairman of the bid committee is Mary Cosgrove. Her assistants are Anna Mae Weber, La Nora Ohnmacht, Peggy Dillon, Ann Hauser, Andrea Sproule and Kathy Au-Young.

Ann Doll is chairman of the refreshment committee. She is assisted by Mary Lassance, Dolores Reihle, Tori Rhomberg and Eileen Schmitt.

Joan Wagner heads the publicity committee which includes Bernice Stark, Margie Schlink, Elaine Mraz, Lillian Weigly and Mary Molsinger. Carol DeRoo and Mary Rater are chairmen of the social committee.

Parents of all seniors have been invited to chaperone the prom.

Shirley Blood Is Named To Edit 1957-58 Courier

Shirley Blood, junior from Cedar Rapids, has been appointed editor of the Courier for next year.

Miss Blood, English major and journalism minor, has served as assistant editor of the Courier and co-editor of the Labarum in her junior year.

The rest of the editorial staff will be announced at a later date. They will take over their positions in September.

Sunday Program Features Seniors In Drama, Music

Dolores McWilliams, soprano, Katherine Au-Young, pianist, and Yvonne McElroy, reader, will be presented in their senior recital Sunday afternoon at 1:30 in Terence Donaghoe hall.

To open the program Miss McWilliams will sing Handel's My Beloved and Weckerlin's Counsel to Nina. Jeanette Hogan will be her accompanist.

An original adaptation of the scene at the trial of Joan of Arc from The Lark by Anouilh will be given by Miss McElroy.

Miss McWilliams will return to the stage to sing After a Dream, by Faure, and Weathers, by Dougherty.

Miss Au-Young will close the program with her interpretation of Beethoven's Sonata, Op. 53. She will play all three movements: Allegro con brio, adagio molto, and allegretto moderato.

Alumnae Receive Seniors In Ceremony Saturday

Seniors will be received into the Clarke College Alumnae association Saturday noon, May 18. The ceremony will take place in the drawing room of Mary Frances Clarke hall.

Officially receiving the girls and welcoming them into the association will be Mrs. Henry J. Pohlman, Dubuque, national president, and Mrs. Charles Carroll, Chicago, first vice-president.

Seven daughters of alumnae will be among those received. They are Patricia Conway, Peggy Dillon, Ann Hauser, Molly Rater, Tori Rhomberg, Bernice Stark and Maureen Sullivan.

Following the reception ceremony, graduates will be entertained by the alumnae at a luncheon at Leiser's Gardens.

Moderators Name Judges For Writing, Art Contests

Judges for the annual writing contests sponsored by The Labarum and The Courier have been named by the publication advisers. Winners will be announced at the honors convocation on May 16.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Francis Freidl, director of public relations at Loras, will select the winners of the Colonel Wallace A. Mead Editorial awards. These awards were established by Mrs. Wallace Mead of San Francisco, mother of a Clarke graduate, in honor of her husband.

Judges Essays

Judging the essay entries will be the Rt. Rev. Msgr. William Green, editor of The Witness, Dubuque diocesan newspaper. The Rev. Raymond Roseliep, professor of English at Loras, will name the winner of the poetry prize. The best short story will be chosen by Mrs. Grace Bohner, dean of women at the University of Dubuque.

The literary awards are made possible through a bequest of the late Mary Blake Finan, Clarke graduate.

Entries in the art contest sponsored by the college art department will be

Faculty, Seniors Select Honor Society Groups

Ten seniors have been named to national honor societies and will be awarded membership keys at Clarke's annual honors convocation May 16.

Chosen by a combined faculty and senior vote, six seniors will join the Rho chapter of Delta Epsilon Sigma, national scholastic honor society for students of Catholic colleges and universities. New members are Katherine Au-Young, Maurita Brady, Patricia Conway, Geraldine Hanten, Shirley Mohr and Carol Splear.

Miss Au-Young and Miss Conway were also elected in a faculty vote to membership in Kappa Gamma Pi, national honor and activity society of Catholic women's colleges. Other new members are Nita Allman, Mary Cosgrove and Ann McDermott.

Geraldine Hanten and Elaine Mraz were eligible for election to Delta Mu Theta, national Catholic music honor society.

Limit Membership

Membership in each society is limited to 10 per cent of the graduating class. In addition, Kappa Gamma Pi requires a 3.4 average for eligibility and the other two societies require a 3.00 average.

A biology major from Lead, S. Dak., Nita Allman has held mem-

Classes Entertain At Farewell Parties

Seniors will be guests of the freshman class at an informal party in the activity room of Mary Frances Clarke hall after College Day activities May 16. Mary Carroll, general chairman, is making plans for the party and for the program which will be on the terrace.

Committee chairmen are Joann Gannon, refreshments; Mary Alice McEachran, habilitation; Felice Lownik, entertainment; Jo Ann McGarry, invitations; Nancy Frommelt, escorts; Carol Pearce, rehabilitation.

Juniors will entertain the seniors May 22, according to Nancy Cant, president of the junior class. In charge of the various committees are Karen Morrow, program; Virginia Hofer, gifts; Carole Kintzle, refreshments; Maureen P. Sullivan, habilitation, and Jane Nielson, rehabilitation.

bership in the Biology Forum, the sodality and the Cecilian Circle. She will continue her studies next year at the University of South Dakota where she will study for her doctor's degree in medicine.

Kathy Au-Young, co-editor of The Labarum, is an English major and a music minor. She is vice-president of the Cecilian Circle and a member of the Press club and Art club. Next year she will study library science on a fellowship at the Catholic University of America. Miss Au-Young comes from Macao, China.

Choose President

Senior class president Maurita Brady is a mathematics major and a physical education minor. She is business manager of The Courier and a member of the Women's Athletic association, the Student Education association, and the Social Science club. Miss Brady has also been active in basketball and volleyball intramurals. Her home is in Downers Grove, Ill.

Patricia Conway, president of the Student Leadership Council, is a mathematics major and psychology minor from Boone. She is on the staff of The Courier and has held membership in the Glee club, Women's Athletic association, sodality and Cecilian Circle.

Music Department Presents Chorus In Spring Program

The Clarke Chorus will be heard in a program of choral music Thursday, May 23, at 12:25 in Terence Donaghoe hall. The 50-voice group is under the direction of Sister Mary Floriana, BVM.

In the first section of the program will be heard Flor Peeters' Ave Maria, Art Thou Troubled from Handel's Rodelinda, Henschel's Morning Hymn, Grubb's Prayer to St. Catherine of Sienna, and Whitney and Kramer's No Man Is an Island. Patricia Price will sing the soprano solo in the Grubb selection.

Randall Thompson's Rosemary, an unaccompanied setting of four lyrics from Stephen Vincent Benet's Tiger Joy, will make up the second part of the program.

The final group of numbers will be Evening in a Garden by Paladilhe, Holiday Song by William Schuman, the Waring Girls Choir arrangement of Green Sleeves and Holiday for Strings by David Rose.

Former Faculty Member Names Clarke in Will

A bequest to Clarke college is included in the will of the Rt. Rev. Msgr. William H. Schulte, Cedar Rapids, who died Apr. 17. Monsignor Schulte taught in the Clarke history and philosophy departments from 1942 to 1951.

Part of Monsignor Schulte's outstanding book collection has been added to the Clarke library. The college also received his grand piano which is now in the solarium of Margaret Mann hall.

In addition, the will provided a trust fund to help young people obtain advanced education. Thirty per cent of the trust is to aid graduates of Immaculate Conception school in Cedar Rapids to study at Clarke college. Another 30 per cent is for students preparing for the priesthood at Loras.

Travel Adds Variety to Studies For Juniors at Vienna University

No amount of imagination can match the experiences being enjoyed by the seven Clarke juniors who are studying at the University of Vienna. Their letters to faculty members and classmates reveal their appreciation of the opportunity of combining foreign study with travel.

"Relaxing and beautiful" is the way Mariclaire Costello described their ocean voyage in early February. One morning Jane Peck and Mariclaire arose at 6:45 to watch their ship pull into St. George's channel toward the Irish seashore. "It was a sight to behold," they wrote. "Even in the dim light we could see that the water was green and the land greener. Even the seagulls were wearing shamrocks and singing with a brogue."

Settling down in Vienna implies getting used to a score of inconveniences. In spite of having to climb four flights of stairs, having no running hot water or central heating, the girls call Vienna home for now. As Judy Werthmann wrote, the living quarters are a far cry from the rooms in Mary Josita hall.

A combination of study, sight-seeing and socializing provides ample opportunities for these Clarkites to become thoroughly engrossed in their every-day work. Judy writes: "There are innumerable art treasures. . . ruins from the war, so many beautiful churches and wonderful music. Vienna has the most of all of these."

"For 16 cents we can stand for any opera. So far I've seen Mozart's Marriage of Figaro and Abduction of Seraglio. I also attended Bach's Passion of St. Luke."

Outstanding Seniors Deserve Your Praise

Congratulations to Clarkites who have received recognition for their excellent college careers with their acceptance this year into national honor societies! We have three chapters on our campus and 10 percent of each graduating class are eligible for membership.

Requirements are stiff, and candidates deserve our praise. Kappa Gamma Pi is open to women who have demonstrated by their college performance the ability and desire to apply Catholicism to modern problems. Faculty members select candidates from those holding a 3.4 average.

New Delta Epsilon Sigma members have maintained at least a B average and have shown capabilities of leadership during their four years at Clarke. They have been chosen by faculty and fellow classmates.

Music department students with a 3.00 average have evidenced a combination of proficiency in music along with a liberal arts education qualify for acceptance into Delta Mu Theta. Selection is made by the music faculty for this honor society, which encourages achievement in performance, original composition, and music leadership under Catholic auspices.

We have reason to be proud of these seniors who have managed to balance appropriately their class room and extra-curricular activities.

a German version of Annie Get Your Gun and were amazed at how well the American Indian speaks German.

One leisurely custom which the girls enjoy would be a pleasant balm for all harried collegians. It seems that everyone in Vienna takes "time out" each day just to sit in the park or in a coffee house.

Nothing but superlatives are used by the travelers to describe the sights they have seen. . . in England, Belgium, France, Italy, Greece. They've gone skiing in the mountains and strolling through the Vienna woods.

Char Craighead, Fran Dieter and Pat Strouhal, who have been in Vienna since September, were close to the Hungarian border when trouble started in November but they missed the excitement.

The nearest we've come to any Hungarians," Char wrote, "was at a party Thursday night. The host had six refugees from Budapest staying with him. They got across the border two hours before the tanks closed in. It was really an experience talking with them."

Pat Strouhal described her experiences in a Hungarian refugee camp when she and her fellow students volunteered their services. Over the dishpan she tried to converse with the Hungarians in the kitchen crew but they ended up singing American songs.

"The refugees were of all ages," she wrote. "A baby whimpered in a corner and its mother spoke soothingly to it. An older child thumbed through battered copies of 'Mickey Maus.' I was particularly impressed with a well-dressed, distinguished looking gentleman who looked strangely out of place among the other refugees. Perhaps he had been a professional man in Budapest — a doctor or a professor. I tried to imagine how such a person might feel who had left everything he had known and loved behind him to begin a new life in a strange country."

Here's What We Think About Being Alumnae

Within a few weeks seniors will officially become alumnae of Clarke college. With this new classification will go new duties and responsibilities.

What will these duties be? Several seniors offer their ideas on the obligations of a Clarke alumna.

LaNora Ohnmacht, home economics major from Olmitz, Kans., feels this way:

"I think that the primary responsibility of all alumnae is to give good example. Living the life of Clarke girls after graduation can do much for our alma mater. The alumnae should be proud to publicize the unique honor system under which we now live.

"Finally, our responsibilities would include personal support of Clarke. This should be both monetary and spiritual."

Marilyn Weydert, biology major from Dubuque, says:

"About this time of year seniors begin pondering on what will be expected of them after they leave Clarke. Many think that their college duties cease with graduation. This, however, shouldn't be the case.

"As alumnae, we will have many obligations to fulfill. The most important, in my estimation, is to uphold the good name which Clarke has established. Also, I think alumnae should support any projects sponsored by Clarke and be willing to further the interests of their alma mater in every possible way."

Dolores Reihle, social studies major from Dubuque, writes:

"The transition in a girl's life from student to alumna requires sound thinking on the matter of responsibilities and attitude toward her alma mater. Living by the standards she upheld in her college days, she will be a fine example of a Clarke graduate and also a good recommendation for her school.

"However, she will not stop with this. She will continue her close affiliation with the college community, supporting all projects and taking an active part in Clarke alumnae clubs."

Eileen Schmitt, home economics major from Sherrill, says:

"Active alumnae are essential to any college. A basic duty for every alumna is to keep in contact with her college. This can be accomplished by reading the Alumna News and by attending alumnae club meetings in her vicinity. In this way new friendships can be made and old friendships renewed.

"Supporting Clarke in any projects it may undertake is another responsibility for alumnae. Their prayers and financial assistance are necessary.

"An alumna can be influential in interesting future collegians in her alma mater. Prospective students may choose a college solely because of an enthusiastic alumna.

"It is important that at all times she is a representative of Clarke and her actions speak for her college."

Cross Over The Bridge

(ACP)—Bridge may be a popular collegiate pastime, but one college journalist takes another view. Jim Suelzer states his views in the Holy Cross College CRUSADER:

"Today, bridge is regarded as almost a social necessity. It is estimated there are 25 million bridge players in the United States." That is what The Information Please Almanac has to say about bridge. My opinion of it is somewhat different.

I think that bridge should be eliminated on the grounds that it is a social evil. In the early medieval period, shuffleboard was outlawed because men spent more time playing shuffleboard than they did practicing archery, and the kings thought an able army more desirable than a top-notch shuffleboard team. This example will give a good

It's Spring Again!

Warm weather has come and brought with it an epidemic. Students are especially susceptible to the fever that is peculiar to spring. The symptoms — excessive drowsiness (most likely to occur when the victims are required to sit upright with books before them) and a tendency to daydream (anytime, anyplace).

The most unfortunate effects of the fever appear on the epidermis which may turn bright red or may freckle profusely because of an overdose of sunshine.

Patients are happiest when allowed to listen to soft music. They also react favorably to picnics. (Caution: extensive use of this treatment may prolong the illness.)

Since the disease is not fatal (the most dangerous period is during the months of April and May) those who find it necessary to treat such cases are advised to have understanding and patience while the fever runs its course. However, firmness and a presentation of reality are required in dealing with those who are struck the hardest. Sufferers can cure themselves by use of willpower.

Those who have not yet contracted spring fever should watch for signs of it and mentally prepare themselves before it is too late. Since the disease is contagious, students should make every effort to stay away from victims. The best way to do this is to go north until the epidemic is over. If this is not practical, one might try locking herself in her room, sealing the windows against the breath of spring, drawing the drapes to keep out Old Sol and delving into her philosophy or chemistry textbook.

Be on the alert. Who knows? YOU may be the next victim!

general notion of what should be done with bridge.

The facility with which bridge can work itself into one's daily existence is phenomenal, and is surpassed only by smoking, as sheer habit-forming. It can affect a change in a person in a comparatively short time.

Help stamp out bridge! You can do your part by destroying every pad of paper marked "We" and "They." When your hosts suggests bridge, set the group on their heels with a burst of impassioned denouncement. . . .

Not Snow, Sleet Nor Storm Stops Clarke Postmistress

By Shirley Blood

Her company doesn't award watches, diamond rings or plaques to its 20-year "employees" but as postmistress of Clarke college for the past 20 years, Sister Mary Rachel, BVM, has truly given the devoted service of the proverbial post-office employee.

One of the few nun postmistresses in the nation, Sister Mary Rachel was appointed in 1937 to this position by Sister Mary Antonia, superior. She thus holds the distinction of being the first postmistress of the first postal station at Clarke college.

At that time, when she was a biology teacher here, Sister was approved by the government and bonded, not under her religious name, but under her lay name. As Sister Mary Rachel she wasn't allowed to work for Uncle Sam.

Recalls Old Days

Sister smiles as she thinks of the 11:30 rush for mail now. Mail-call before the days of Clarke's postoffice, didn't occur until the evening study hall (obligatory) which was from 6 to 8 p.m.

What were the college's mail regulations like in 1937? Sister Mary Rachel remembers when letters were censored — literally censored. Each girl had to submit her letters to the prefect of her class (equivalent to adviser) and she in turn would check the spelling, vocabulary and grammar. If they didn't meet up with specifications, a rewrite job was in order. Thus each letter was a rhetoric lesson.

The girls' correspondents were also screened. Parents sent the college a list of people with whom their daughter might correspond. She could write to, and be written to, by these people only.

There's a Funny Side

Some humorous incidents are recalled by Sister Mary Rachel. During World War II a soldier wrote letters to his mother and his friend at Clarke but used such thin paper that the two envelopes stuck together and were both delivered to Clarke. Sister Mary Rachel often wondered what the mother thought when she received a letter postmarked Dubuque from her son in Japan.

The post mistress also remembers the girl who sent her laundry case home but forgot to reverse the name-card from the previous time. A few days later the self-addressed laundry-case came back, duly processed through the Dubuque postoffice.

Postoffice work is enjoyable, Sister relates, but it has its confusing aspects: namely, names. There are some that look alike, or are spelled alike, or—are alike. In the first category, for instance, are the names Ruth Ann Buenker and Ruth Ann Beuster, Pat Haskins and Pat Hawkins, and Joan and Joann O'Malley.

With "spell-a-likes" there's Jean, Pat and Sharon Ryan (unrelated) besides the three O'Connors—Margaret, Karen and Mary Jo. Most confusing, however, are the duplicate names, such as the two Maureen Sullivans and the two Mary Kerns, which have to be distinguished by the middle initial.

Has Several Titles

"Postmistress" is not the only title Sister Mary Rachel holds. She is also a "notary public." This title authorizes her to witness legal signatures. It requires another bond and means more duties, such as witnessing the signatures on absentee ballots.

But no matter what her job, Sister is known to Clarkites by one name—Sister Mary Postoffice.

Class Queens To Officiate At Campus Ceremonies

Four queens will reign at coronation ceremonies honoring the Blessed Virgin Sunday afternoon, May 19, at 2 p.m. The Chapel of the Sacred Heart and three outdoor shrines will be the scenes of the class crownings.

Ruth Ann Beuster, freshman from Kewanee, Ill., will crown the statue of Our Lady of Lourdes at the grotto on back campus. Her attendants will be Joan Long, Marie Hart, Rosemary McGuirk and Beth Brown.

Officiates at Soph Shrine Sophomores elected Cecil Lee, Seoul, Korea, to place the crown on the statue of Our Lady of the Moonlight on the campus of Rose O'Toole hall. In attendance will be Sue Sullivan, Mary Ann Ludwig, Louise Schuster and Donna Claes.

Junior queen Kathy Garner, Chicago, will crown the statue of Our Lady of the Sunset on the campus behind Mary Frances Clarke hall.

Special Delivery to Shirley Blood, Cedar Rapids, newly appointed editor of The Courier, goes an interview with Sister Mary Rachel, BVM, who this month celebrates her 20th anniversary as Clarke's postmistress.

Buenker Wins Top Prize In Witness Story Contest

Ruth Buenker, sophomore English major, from Des Moines, took a first place prize of $50 in the short story contest sponsored by The Witness, Dubuque diocesan newspaper. Her winning entry, "The Pink Tea Set," appeared in the May 2 issue of the paper.

Third place in the college division went to Mona Putnam, sophomore English major from St. Paul, Minn., for "A Morning Sacrifice."

Both stories were written for The Labarum. Miss Buenker's was printed in the spring issue and Miss Putnam's will appear in the forthcoming issue.

ian Circle. Her mother, Katherine Dunn Conway, is a Clarke graduate.

Mary Cosgrove, a Dubuque, is a foods and nutrition major and a science minor. She is a member of The Courier staff and represented her class for two years on the Student Affairs Forum. She served as Tuckpointer for two years and is a member of the college orchestra and the Home Economics club.

Heads Cecilia Circle

Geraldine Hanten, also from Dubuque, has a major in music and minors in English and history. She is president of the Cecilia Circle and a member of the Student Affairs Forum, the Mixed chorus and the college orchestra. Last year she received the Aurelia Sullivan Music award.

Ann McDermott, Waterloo, has served as chairman of the student Public Relations board for the past two years. A biology major and chemistry minor, she has been accepted for a medical technology internship at the Minneapolis General hospital. She is a member of the Biology Forum.

Holds Federation Award

An English major from Clinton, Shirley Mohr entered Clarke as the winner of the BVM Federation scholarship. She served as a Tuckpointer for two years and organized the Young Republican club on the campus last year. Miss Mohr is a member of the Press club, Student Education association and the Social Science club.

Sodality prefect Carol Splear is a biology major and chemistry minor from Pontiac, Ill. Junior May queen last year, she will reign again this year in the all-school coronation ceremony. Miss Splear holds membership in the Biology Forum, the sodality and the Women's Athletic association. She has been accepted for a medical technology internship at the Tripler Army hospital in Hawaii.

Tuckpointers Choose Blake For Chairman

Mary Catherine Blake was elected Tuckpointer chairman for next year at a meeting of the newly appointed members Tuesday. Miss Blake is a drama major from Munster, Ind.

Tuckpointers, the popular name for Clarkites who form the Student Committee on Freshman Orientation, were named last week by Maureen Sullivan, present chairman.

Incoming seniors who will serve as Tuckpointers are Diana Borst, Barbara Duffy, Judy Hess, Patricia Holmes, Mary Kern, Martha Schaub, Sharon Waldron, Mary Clare Weber and Maureen Sullivan.

Junior Tuckpointers will be Ruth Buenker, Donna Claes, Sue Coffey, Judy Conway, Margaret Cranc, Mary Dougherty, Jean Hochstatter, Eileen Lavery, Deedee Lynch, Mary Ann Ludwig, Margaret Monahan, Patricia Oberembt, Marilyn Peters, Mona Putnam, Carol Ullius, Mary Jo Wolfe, Carol Chambers, Mellita Hanten, Bette Lange, Maura Maloy, Deanne Murphy, Louise Schuster and Marian Wolters.

Selected from the freshman class are Agnes Angerer, Jody Broderick, Katherine Cassidy, Clarence Colucci, Carole Craighead, Joyce Crampton, Meredith Cutter, Sheila Dempsey, Donna Droney, Audrey Engles, Margaret Fiewiger, Bernedette Flury, Nancy Gardette, Kay Grennan.

Also Marie Hart, Mary Eileen Hood, Mary Houlihan, Joanne Jolin, Judy LeMay, Phyllis Nickels, Joanne O'Malley, Patricia Price, Mary Brigid Powers, Mel Sanders, Mary Searls, Diana Seaton, Barbara Teschner, Connie Wendler, Celine Wolfe, Beth Brown, Martha Kolch and Jeanne Ryan.

Honors Convocation Is on Schedule For College Day

College Day activities next Thursday will include the annual honors convocation which is scheduled for 2:15 in Terence Donaghoe hall. At this time new SLC officers will be installed and outstanding students will be honored.

The traditional day will open with high Mass in the Chapel of the Sacred Heart celebrated by the Rev. Clarence W. Friedman, chaplain. Speaker will be the Rev. James Barta, a graduate of Loras college now at St. Wenceslaus church, Cedar Rapids.

Tree planting will take place on the campus at 10:30 a.m. Mistress of ceremonies will be Geraldine Hanten.

Formal dinner for faculty and students will be at 6 p.m. in the college dining hall.

The symbolic torch-passing ceremony will be held at 8 p.m. on the front campus of Mary Frances Clarke hall. Leaders of classes, clubs and other organizations will pass the torch of authority to their successors.

Seniors will present their farewell program in Terence Donaghoe hall at 8:30 p.m. Script-writers are Margie Schlink and Molly Rater. Yvonne McElroy will direct.

Summer Theatre Group Signs Barbara Bernoudy

Barbara Bernoudy, junior drama major, will sing through the summer again this year as a result of auditions held in Kansas City for the Starlight Theatre association. She was one of the nine women selected for the vocal ensemble for the famed outdoor summer theatre.

Miss Bernoudy's professional career began last year when she signed a summer contract with the association. She took part in 10 musicals, singing with the chorus and playing minor roles.

Each year the Starlight Theatre association invites men and women to audition for the vocal ensembles. All principal roles in the shows are filled by New York or Hollywood stars, but chorus members have the opportunity of filling minor roles or taking bit parts.

3 Students Get 4.00 Scores To Top Dean's Honor List

Three four-pointers top the college dean's list at the year's third quarter mark. They are senior Mary Cosgrove, and sophomores Louise Schuster and Sandra Tom.

Miss Cosgrove, of Dubuque, is a home economics major. Miss Schuster, also from Dubuque, is majoring in English. Miss Tom, Western Springs, Ill., is a drama major.

The nine seniors following Miss Cosgrove on the list are Patricia Conway, Boone, mathematics, 3.84; Shirley Mohr, Clinton, English, 3.83; Eileen Schmitt, Sherrill, home economics, 3.59; Marian Howie, Jackson, Miss., history, 3.56; Nita Allman, Lead, S. Dak., biology, 3.50; Andrea Sproule, Mounds, Ill., social science, 3.44; Mary Lassance, Dubuque, sociology, 3.41; Sue Turnis, Bernard, home economics, 3.41; Ann McDermott, Waterloo, biology, 3.40.

Juniors Make List

Leading the juniors at the end of the quarter are Patricia Holmes, Yankton, S. Dak., chemistry, 3.84; Mary Judith Hess, Carroll, English, 3.63; Mary Hilger, Prophetstown, Ill., English, 3.50.

The sophomores have the greatest number on the list. Not far behind the four-pointers are Deanna Murphy, Dubuque, general science, 3.89; Patricia Oberembt, Sioux City, sociology, 3.85; Mellita Hanten, Dubuque, English, 3.73; Sue Sullivan, Hanover, Ill., English, 3.72; Betty Lange, Dubuque, sociology, 3.70; Carol Taglieri, Chicago, Ill., liberal arts, 3.69; Carol Chambers, Dubuque, mathematics, 3.68; Donna Claeys, East Moline, Ill., biology, 3.67.

Clarke Pianists, Vocalists Unite for Music Program

Student pianists and vocalists were presented by the music department yesterday afternoon in a program in Terence Donaghoe hall.

Sandra Tambornino, freshman piano student, presented the first movement of McDowell's Concerto in D Minor. Orchestral parts on a second piano were played by Patricia Hawkins.

Other piano numbers were presented by Miss Hawkins, JoAnn Bennis and Patricia Giegerich.

Vocalists on the program were Patricia Condon, Barbara Bernoudy, Elaine Shea, Marilyn Mootz, Patricia Price, Gail Farley and Clarence Colucci.

The singers were accompanied by Elaine Mraz, Mary Hilger, Patricia Hawkins, Sandra Tambornino and JoAnn Bennis.

Bernoudy, Morrow Play Leading Roles In Loras Musical

Brigadoon, the little town in Scotland which appears only once every hundred years, is now at Loras college. The musical, by Lerner and Lowe, opened last Sunday and will close next Sunday evening.

Performances are at 8:30 p.m. A matinee for religious will be presented tomorrow at 2 p.m.

Singing the feminine leads are Barbara Bernoudy who is cast as Fiona, a sweet Scottish lass, and Karen Morrow who plays Meg, a "girl around town."

The story centers around two Americans, Hommy (Jim Fee) and Jeff (Wayne Rauch), who, while hunting in the Scottish highlands, accidentally wander into Brigadoon. It is the one day in this modern century on which the town comes to life. However, before the day is over, the Americans have fallen in love with Fiona and Meg and must decide whether to stay in the magic village forever or leave their sweethearts and return to reality.

Brigadoon is rich in music and dancing. The Eugene Loring Dancers from Hollywood are back for their third appearance with Loras Players.

The vocal chorus is composed of Clarke and Loras students. Representing Clarke are Gail Farley, Celine Wolfe, Patricia Price, Clarence Colucci, Mary Kay Marinich, Jo Ann Bennis, Patricia Condon, Colleen O'Meara, Elaine Shea, Marilyn Mootz, Elaine Mraz, Betty Barrett and Margaret Crane.

The Rev. Karl Schroeder is directing the musical with the assistance of the Rev. Jerald Blackburn.

Swimmers Pass Course For Safety Instructors

Five Clarke athletes satisfactorily completed a four-weeks course in water safety instruction and were awarded certificates. Conducted by the Dubuque Red Cross, the course was held at the University of Dubuque pool.

Participants were Nita Allman, Marilyn Owen, Virginia Roth, Sharon Voelz and Sally Miller. All five previously passed their senior life saving tests.

These students are now eligible to teach water safety at camps or pools.

Club Picnics End Year

It's picnic time again and campus clubs are drawing the year to a close by planning outdoor activities.

The home economics club and the press club will start the ball rolling May 14. The home economics club will hold its picnic backcampus. Press club members will journey to Eagle Point park.

Scheduled for May 15 is the WAA picnic. It has been tentatively set for Eagle Point. Definite plans will be announced later.

Kern to Head Senior Class; SLC, NF Complete Rosters

Mary Kern, junior biology major from LaGrange, Ill., will serve as president of next year's senior class as the result of an election last week. Currently secretary of her class, she defeated president Nancy Cant by a slight margin.

Miss Kern

Jeanne Miclot, Davenport sophomore, and Betty McDonald, freshman from River Forest, Ill., were chosen treasurer and secretary, respectively, of the Student Leadership Council in an all-school election. Both are drama majors.

Elections for Clarke delegates to the National Federation of Catholic College Students were held May 2. Mona Putnam, sophomore English major from St. Paul, Minn., was named senior delegate, and Jean Ryan, freshman from Clinton, was elected junior delegate.

Patricia Burke, sociology major from Waukegan, Ill., was elected president of the incoming junior class Wednesday.

Press club elections last week resulted in the placing of Ruth Buenker, sophomore English major from Des Moines, in the presidency.

Maureen P. Sullivan, Chicago, was elected president of the Social Science club Wednesday. On the same day Diane Pape, Dubuque, was chosen to head the Home Economics club and Catherine Hsu, Taipei, Formosa, was elected president of the Cecilian Circle.
